WILL MAKE STRONG BID FOR "DIXIE BEE LINE"

Hopkins County Association to Get Busy and Bring Route Through Madisonville, Earlington, Mortons Gap and Nortonville

ORGANIZE ON ROUTES

The Hopkins County Dixie Bee Line Association is preparing to start the ball rolling for the location of the Dixie Bee Line through this county. The routes in Hopkins county have been inspected by the view committee of the Dixie Bee Line Association and is now up to old Hopkins. It is the consensus of opinion that Hopkins and Webster counties can land the Dixie Bee Line if they can build the road. That is the one problem that confronts us at this time. It is no longer "Can we get it?" It is now "Can we build it?"

Our people are already familiar with the splendid results that have been obtained up to this time. In starting the work the Hopkins County Bee Line Association joined hands with the Fiscal Court of Hopkins county and worked out a plan to start the construction fund for the road with an appropriation of some $50,000 by the fiscal court. This move has met with the hearty support of the people and the fiscal court is being congratulated on all sides for that progressive step which brings the construction of the road within range of possibility. This appropriation is available to any route that the road may take through Hopkins county.

The road through this county will cost somewhere from $80,000 to $120,000, according to which route it takes. It is then necessary to raise the amount required to complete the construction of the road by subscription. These subscriptions must of course be largely made by the people along the route which the road will finally take.

The Ways and Means Committee of the Hopkins County Bee Line Association is undertaking the matter of organizing each proposed route through the county and of making an exhibit of the ability of each of these proposed routes to build the road. It is at this time believed that the possibility of securing the road over any route in the county will rest largely upon the ability of that particular route to "complete" the road. The possibility of securing the route through Hopkins county at all will rest largely upon the ability of Hopkins County to show that it can build the road through Hopkins County. The Dixie Bee Line Association has fixed November 4 as the day on which it will hear each county present its claims for the Dixie Bee Line and consider each county's ability to build its part of the road. Hopkins county will on that day have to show the association that it can build the road within the time prescribed and according to whatever specification are adopted, or it will have to get out of the game and let it go elsewhere.

The Dixie Bee Line Highway is going to be built. It is going to run from Danville, Ill., to Springfield, Tenn., at both of which places it connects with the main Dixie Highway which runs from Chicago south to the Gulf of Mexico. The Dixie Bee Line will be one hundred or one hundred and fifty miles shorter than the main line of the Dixie Highway in going from Chicago to the South. We know that that means we will get the bulk of the traffic; that is to go over the Dixie Highway from the North to the South or from South to North. That will make it one of the most important of the several national highways. It will be worth more to Hopkins County than any enterprise that is within reach of us at this time. It is our ONE GREAT OPPORTUNITY and nothing stands in our way now except the fact that we must finish capitalizing this opportunity while it stands open to us.

B. D. E. CLUB

One of the most delightful meetings in the history of the Club was that of last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. E. Witherpoon.

A dainty handkerchief shower was given in honor of Mrs. Crabtree who leaves next week for Howell, Ind., after which sentiments of the Club were read as follows:

Mid September's gentle breeze Mid the sunshine and the glow, May the one so soon to leave us Find true friends where'er she go.

Some will forget us maybe A time doth have its trace, But in B.D.E. hearts remember Thon ever hath a place.

Lined on bidding goodbye to Mrs. Crabtree, a loved member of the B. D. E. E.

It is the time and the hour draws near when you and we must never, Alas it may be for many months and it may be forever,

How long 'till we shall meet again, how short since first we met thee,

How brief the bliss how long the pain for we will ne'er forget thee.

We have found you faithful to every trust, we know you are true-hearted, And we'll miss your presence at the club when you from us have parted,

We bid you God speed where'er you go in this land of the brave and free, And we hope you will never forget your friends of the Earlington B. D. E.

At a late hour a delicious salad course was served.

Tobacco Barn Burns

A tobacco barn on the farm of William Bassett, near the city, containing twenty acres of fine tobacco owned by Lee Galloway, was destroyed by fire at an early hour on Wednesday morning. Mr. Galloway had been firing tobacco during the night. Near daylight he put a quantity of sawdust on the fire and went to the house. A short time later the barn was discovered on fire. The loss is only partly covered by insurance. A quantity of lumber stored in the barn was also destroyed.

CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY

Of The First Sunday School in Kentucky

The centennial anniversary of the first Sunday School in Kentucky and the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the Kentucky Sunday School Association will be jointly celebrated at the annual convention to be held in Louisville, October 7-10. This double event will undoubtedly attract the largest attendance of any Sunday School Convention in the history of the State.

A program of unusual strength has been provided and the railroads have offered reduced fares for the occasion.

The growth of the Sunday Schools in Kentucky has been remarkable. From its beginning in Jeffersontown just 100 years ago the number of Sunday Schools was increased in 1816 by the establishment of a Sunday School in Louisville and by 1829 there were twenty schools in Kentucky with 258 teachers and 1,697 pupils. While this year's census has not yet been compiled, it is estimated that the number of pupils will exceed the half million mark. Last year there were 4,564 Sunday Schools with 87,997 officers and more than 400,000 pupils.

Worth Their Weight in Gold
"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and found them to be just as represented, a quick relief for headaches, dizzy spells and other symptoms denoting a torpid liver and a disordered condition of the digestive organs. They are worth their weight in gold," writes Miss Clara A. Driggs, Elba, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The pastor, Howard J. Brazelton, with a large number of the members has been attending the State Convention of Christian Churches at Madisonville this week. They report one of the greatest convention held for years. At the banquet of Transylvania University Wednesday night Mr. Brazelton was one of the speakers, having the subject "Kentucky and Our Colleges." On Thursday night Mrs. Jno Long and a number of young folks of the Earlington school gave an interesting exercise before a crowded house.

The regular services will be held at the Church Sunday. Sunday school at 9:30 A. M., preaching following. At the evening service Mr. W. R. Warren, of Indianapolis, will preach. Mr. Warren is a man of national reputation and a treat is in store for all who hear him. The public is cordially invited.

For any itchiness of the skin, for skin rashes, chaps, pimples, etc., try Doan's Ointment. 50c at all drug stores.

Woodmen of The World Will Meet Sunday

Woodmen of the World will meet in Evansville next Sunday, where a special program will be rendered. Congressman Kincheloe and Hon. A. O. Stanley are among the speakers. An excursion will be run from Hopkinsville and many Madisonville Woodmen will go over.

CONFERENCE OF METHODIST CHURCH

Will be Held at Hartford Next Week and Large Attendance is Expected

BEGINS ON WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 29

The annual meeting of the Louisville conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, comprising all of western and southern parts of Kentucky including the city of Louisville, will be held next week at Hartford, Ky., beginning on Wednesday and lasting through noon of the following Monday. As usual this meeting is a matter of deep interest, for every year many changes of pastors are to be expected, and often these come as real surprises. This year will doubtless be no exception to this. The hospitable people of Hartford are making elaborate preparations for entertaining the three hundred or more preachers and delegates who will be with them. There are about two hundred preachers in the conference and about 65,000 members.

Bishop James Atkins, of Waynesboro, N. C., will preside over the conference. This will be the first time he has ever presided at a session here.

The church law, which prohibits a pastor from remaining at one place more than four consecutive years, will cause a number of changes this time, though not so many as is often the case. In addition to this many other changes may be expected, and some go as far to look for a considerable shakeup.

One of the most important forced moves will be Dr. U. G. Foote, who is just completing his quadrennium as pastor of the Temple in Louisville. That Rev. A. R. Kasey, the present presiding elder of the Elizabethtown district, is looked upon most favorably by the Temple congregation is not denied and it would not be a surprise to see him assigned to that charge. If this is done Dr. Foote may be sent to Elizabethtown as presiding elder.

Rev. G. W. Hummel, of Russellville, has served four years and must go elsewhere and some think possibly he will be made presiding elder of the Bowling Green district and the present presiding elder, Rev. J. B. Adams, may be sent to Russellville.

Rev. M. B. Crutie will have to leave Central City because of the four year law, as will Rev. L. W. Turner, of Providence; Rev. Paul Powell, of Drakesboro; Rev. J. C. Hoskinson, Lebanon; Rev. D. F. Tarter, of Jamestown and others.

The death of Dr. Gross Alexander will make it necessary to elect another editor of the Quarterly Review and Book Review. Names that are being mentioned in this connection are those of Dr. Frank M. Thomas and Dr. U. G. Foote.

The session of the conferences will be important in many other ways as the year's business and accomplishments will be canvassed in detail.

MILLINERY OPENING

Was Week's Event at The Barnes Store Friday

Friday was the general opening of the Barnes Stores and great preparations had been made for an auspicious opening of the fall season.

At this store, the ladies were greatly interested in the attractive displays of the new season's styles and popular goods. These semi-annual openings are always great events with the ladies, who flock in large numbers to see what is newest and most up-to-date in headwear.

There were, as usual, four models who gave displays of fashions from 10:30 to 12 and from 3 to 4:30 P. M., during which time delightful music was rendered.

The beautiful displays were witnessed by many men, presumably the husbands of ladies who could not be present, but wanted to be represented.

Important News From Outside

Here is positive proof of good times and the success possible for an article of honest value, when backed by good advertising in the right newspapers.

If there has ever been any questions in the minds of our readers regarding the productiveness of the Bee as a business building medium, that question is settled definitely now.

We have just received a big contract for advertising space from the Calumet Baking Powder Co., manufacturers of the famous Calumet Baking Powder.

Year after year at this season, they make their contracts with the leading publications. They advertise in thousands and thousands of newspapers throughout the country and are in a position to know the value of newspaper publicity.

The absolute purity, the unquestioned wholesomeness and wonderful economy of Calumet Baking Powder, all backed by honest advertising in the right mediums has succeeded in building for them a tremendous business and enviable reputation. This year Calumet advertising will be very much different from any of the previous years. One of the country's best character artists has created for Calumet a cute little character which will amuse the youngsters and tell the housewives in his own individual way, how to secure the best results in baking.

There Is No Question but that indigestion and the distressed feeling which always goes with it can be promptly relieved by taking a

PROMINENT MEN NOW USE TANLAC

Mayors, County and Circuit Court Judges Obtain Famous Medicines

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 23.—"I have sold Tanlac, since the beginning of its introduction in Lexington, to the mayors of a number of cities, county judges, circuit judges, and to many of the most prominent business and professional men in Kentucky," says Wm. E. Stagg, the Lexington druggist.

"The demand for the preparation has been phenomenal. In all of my twenty years' experience in the drug business I have never seen anything that equals it."

"In addition to the Lexington demand, Tanlac has been shipped from my store to Kansas City, Mo., Colorado Springs, Colo., Denver, Colo., Memphis, Tenn., Meridian, Miss., Bonilla, S. D., Pittsburgh, Pa., Jacksonville, Fla., Louisville, Ky., Tiffin, O., Cincinnati, O., Columbia, Tenn., Palm Beach, Fla., Phoenix, Ariz., Los Angeles, Cal., and many other points throughout the country that are too numerous to mention. You may rest assured that every city in Kentucky has, too, heard of Tanlac,

"I can only account for the great demand for this preparation by the fact that it is a good medicine. That is proven by the numerous statements from those who have tested the medicine in cases of catarrhal affections, or stomach, liver and kidney complaints, and are now convinced of its excellent merits. The public has not been slow to appreciate the Tanlac merit."

"Practically $15,000 worth of Tanlac has been sold and distributed thru my store within the past seventy days. Such a demand is most certainly unprecedented."

"I take pleasure in commanding Mr. Cooper and his very excellent preparation."

Tanlac, the preparation referred to, is now sold in Earlington and St. Charles at Geo. King & Sons drug stores, in Mortons Gap at Ben T. Robinson's drug store and in Nortonville at the City drug store.

What The Illinois Steel Company Does

The Illinois Steel Company of Joliet, Illinois, when running to its full capacity, employs 4,000 men. About three years ago this concern stopped men from going out of the gates during the noon hour without a special pass, because of the fact that there were saloons close to the main entrance of the plant. Realizing the gravity of the problem, the Illinois Steel Company instituted well-considered measures to promote the abstinence and efficiency of their men. This campaign was under the direction of Mr. H. B. Smith, Inspector of Safety and Labor. When it started one of the saloons across the street from the plant used eight bartenders. At the present time it uses two. The employees are definitely requested to abstain from liquors on their way to work. Striking posters were prepared for the bulletin boards, and "The Mixer," the plant publication, contained temperance material in each issue. Mr. Smith, himself, holds frequent conferences with the foremen. Every opportunity is given to the men to procure milk and similar substitutes.

"When we employ a man," says Mr. Smith, "he is asked if he is in the habit of drinking alcoholic liquors. If he is, he is informed that he might as well not go to work as he would be laid off sooner or later."

A lazy liver leads to chronic dyspepsia and constipation—weakens the whole system. Doan's Regalite (5c per box) acts mildly on the liver and bowels. At all drug stores.

The October American Magazine

In the October American Magazine Olive Higgins Prouty begins a new serial entitled "The Fifth Wheel." It is the story of the revolt of Ruth Vare, a New England girl of good family, who tired of the conventional prospect before the ordinary woman and decided to break loose and live her own life. This is the story of her personal and business adventures.

Norman Strong, writing under the title "Growing Old at Fifty," tells how he made himself over physically and mentally when he had reached the late forties. He was old at 46, with death just around the corner. At fifty he is ten years younger, well, strong and more youthful, simply by following a few simple rules.

Stanley Johnson gives the second installment of his series, "Youth Leads the Way" in which he tells of the tremendous work done by boys and girls under the direction of the Department of Agriculture. Jerome Travers, present open and four times amateur golf champion of the United States, tells many stories of great golf plays and players under the title of "Heroes of Wood and Iron."

More fiction is contributed by John Taintor Foote, Ruth Sapinsky, Philip Curtis, Edgar L. Hampton and Alice Wood. James Montgomery Flagg does an amusing piece in words and pictures entitled "A Bizarre Civil Engineer." John M. Siddall contributes an editorial entitled "How the World Empties and Fills." Ray Stannard Baker tells why he is in favor of Woman Suffrage. The regular departments—Interesting People and the Family's Money—are filled with good reading and good ideas. The prize winning letters in the contest entitled "The Jew" complete a number of rare interest and freshness.

"P. A." spells tobacco all over the world

Men of all tastes take to Prince Albert pipe and cigarette tobacco like it just about answers all questions! And it does! Quicker you get on speaking terms with this national joy smoke the sooner you'll get a whole lot off your mind. Because, it just hands you more fun than you ever got out of a pipe or makin's cigarette before. The patented process fixes that—and removes the bite and parch.

Here's the latest member of the "old-time jimmy-pipers" club. It's a fine likeness of John E. Bach, 101 years old, of Newark, N.J. He has been a pipe smoker for 80 years. Mr. Bach, who still烟s every day, gives this idea of a long life: "Just eat all you want, eat all you want, sleep all you want—and don't worry!"

P. A. is sold everywhere in toppy red bags (handy for cigarette smokers), 6c; tidy red tins, 10c; handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that shiny crystal-glass pound holder with the sponge-moistener top that keeps P. A. damp.

PRINCE ALBERT

is the one brand of tobacco you can take liberties with, firing away 24-hours straight without a tongue-kick! You get the listen of that.

Cut out lamenting for that old jimmy pipe stored away in the rafters; stop fretting about how you'd like to roll 'em, but you dassn't. Men, you can lay your last cent that you'll be top-notch-tickled if you catch the spirit of this testimony and get some P. A. and go to it! Never do anything but make smokers jimmy pipe joy's and cigarettes makin's happy—and that's just what's coming to you!

Can you sit-tight and get that P. A. aroma from somebody else's friendly old pipe or rolled cigarette? Can you pass up pleasure that's due you, and coming to you quick as you jump that fence into the Prince Albert pasture? Come on out and be a regular fellow who's game to take a chance for what ails his smokeappetite division!

Forest Protection In Kentucky

Much Progress Made In This Work In Last Few Years

ALTHOUGH a bill was passed by the General Assembly in March, 1912, and approved by the governor providing for a state board of forestry and the appointment of a state forester, it was not until the 1st of September, 1912, that the work was actually put in. Then, since at this time a state forester was appointed and took up the duties of his office. It was very clear at the beginning of the work that forest protection was the feature which would receive the greatest emphasis, especially protection from forest fires, which have been and are the greatest enemy for the destruction of the timber in the entire state; consequently a fire plan was outlined by the state board of forestry and has since been followed out. The fire plan was made more feasible by the co-operation possibility with the federal government under the Weeks law, whereby $4,000 was made available to the state for the protection of watersheds of the streams of navigable streams contingent upon the expenditure of a like sum by the state. The manner in which this protection could be secured centralized around a county fire patrol system under which county foresters were appointed in various counties in the state where there was a large amount of timber and elsewhere the demands of the community justified the placing of such an officer. In view of the fact that a large bulk of the timber of Kentucky at the present time (especially the most valuable stands) is in the eastern and western part of the state the county patrollers so far appointed have been largely confined to this region. Up to the present time the number of patrollers employed during any fire has been a strong argument for the formation of like organizations in other counties in the state. At the present time there are nearly 200,000 acres embraced in this association, and they include practically all the timberland owners in Harlan county. Approximately 25,000 acres were added to the acreage of the association last spring after one of the severest fire seasons which the state has ever experienced, which shows that the work has been effective in a measure to secure the confidence of the timberland owners in that region. The most ambitious effort for the formation of a forest fire protective association is that put on foot last spring, which embraces four counties in Kentucky and two in Virginia. This effort was initiated by the Consolidation Coal company. The four counties of Kentucky embraced in this organization are Pike, Letcher, Floyd and Knox and the two counties in Virginia Wise and Dickenson. The last two counties to undertake such an organization are Leslie and Clay, so that the southeastern part of the state is in a fair way to be entirely covered with associations.

It must be borne in mind that these associations are purely voluntary, are composed of timberland owners, lessors, etc., and are administered locally. The severity of the fires which occurred in Kentucky last spring, on account of the drought early in the season, has been a decided incentive to the formation of like associations in other counties, with two ideas in mind—first, the protection of the standing timber, and second, organized effort to suppress forest fires by the punishment in court of individuals who, through carelessness, neglect or willfulness, have caused fires on timberlands. There is every reason to

A Forest Fire In the Mountains

Forest fires destroy thousands of dollars' worth of timber every year and are largely preventable.

... has averaged about twenty-five paid partly from federal funds and partly from state funds. These patrollers were employed only in the season of the year during which danger might be expected. This period of employment has averaged approximately two months in the spring and the same amount in the fall, and the patrollers have been paid during the time of their appointment $2 per day plus the amount actually spent by them in work. The duties of these patrollers were to suppress and prevent forest fires as far as they could, in the country in which they were appointed, and by personal contact with the people in the county to point out to them the danger from forest fires in the destruction of timber, buildings, fences and other valuable products, and also emphasize the fact that a large percentage of the forest fires which occurred were due to causes which could have been eliminated with care on the part of the individuals. The work of the county wardens has been inspected for three weeks, as nearly as possible, by the district wardens, and the whole work has been inspected by the United States forest service. The dangerous season for forest fires ordinarily is for a period of three months in the spring, Feb. 15 to May 15, and for a period of three months in the fall, Sept. 15 to Dec. 15, but the patrollers are only under appointment and paid for the actual time during which fires might be expected because of the climatic conditions existing at the time. It was soon evident that, while the county patrollers were accomplishing a considerable amount of effective work, nevertheless even one patroller in the county where there was a large amount of timber would not secure the necessary amount of forest protection. Consequently the next step was to see if the co-operation of the timberland owners by organizing associations, etc., was felt that only in the event that timberland owners became financially interested in the matter of forest protection of their own lands and supplemented the funds of the state by funds of their own to be expended in protective measures could a permanent good be accomplished in this direction.

Under this plan the first county in the state to be organized was Harlan county, and the success of the Forest Protective Association in this county has been so remarkable and its growth so continuous that it believe that like associations will be formed in several other counties before the danger season for fires in the fall. A strong sentiment of this character in Lewis county recently accomplished the organization of an association, and there is every probability that more associations in the immediate future will be formed, due to the same sentiment.

FOREST UTILIZATION.

Kentucky forests a big item in industrial life. Kentucky forests play a big part in the industrial life of the state, and not only for the amount of timber they produce, which, according to the last figures of the census available, was 641,200,000 feet, board measure, and it is of interest to point out the direction in which the forests of the state are of vital importance to various interests. The capital invested in logging and milling operations in one year (1910) was $21,281,000 and the average number of wage earners 13,042 (five times as many as are employed in the distilled liquor business, which heads the list in value of product). The number of active sawmills in Kentucky, according to the last census (1910), was 1,001. The railroads are one of the greatest users of timber in the United States. The timber demanded by them is mostly in the shape of crossties, telephone and telegraph poles, material for car building, etc. It is safe to say, from the best figures obtainable, that over 2,000,000 crossties were purchased by the railroads in Kentucky in 1914. Another great industry which is in its infancy in Kentucky, which consumes large quantities of wood products, is the mining industry, especially the coal mining industry, and it is for this reason that in the coal mining regions of the eastern part of the state the state forester has met with the heartiest co-operation in an endeavor to suppress the forest fires.

The timber used in the mines is in the form of lagging, stulls, props, ties and lumber for the construction of buildings of various sorts. It is figured that from three to four feet, board measure, are used for each ton of coal mined. Kentucky now ranks fifth among the states in the production of coal. In 1914 over 20,000,000 tons were mined. The telephones, telegraph and electric light and power companies use a large amount of timber in the shape of poles, posts, etc.
